Available to buy now from retailers across the UK and Ireland, the new Xperia L4 is the ideal entry-level smartphone to help you keep in touch with your loved ones all day. The newest model in the L series has a sleek stylish design which fits perfectly in your hand, so you can browse and connect in comfort.

Benefiting from a 21:9 Wide 6.2” display, normally reserved for premium models, the Xperia L4 lets you see more but scroll less. You can also increase your browsability with Sony’s multi-window UI which allows you to run two apps simultaneously, as well as the Side sense function which lets you switch between your favourite apps effortlessly. There is also a large 3580mAh battery to keep you connected even during a busy day.

You can even get creative and expand your photography skills with the triple camera; offering a 13MP main lens, 5MP ultra-wide lens and 2MP depth camera for a beautiful bokeh effect. This is the first Xperia in the L series to offer a triple lens camera, allowing you to capture high quality images from two angles: wide and ultra-wide. There is also the opportunity to capture video and images in the dramatic 21:9 ratio.

Offered in either black or blue, Xperia L4 is available to buy now from the Sony online store as well as local retailers, priced at £169/€199 SIM-free. Please check operators and retailers for individual tariffs.
